CHICAGO PRODUCE MARKET.
CHICAGO, December 30.—The annual jubilee interfered with business to-day. Outside orders were scarce in the wheat-pit. It is claimed that the recent accumulations of sidotracks are about up. Fluctuations were confined within a $\(\frac{\pi_0}{2} \) tange, and the closing was about $\(\frac{\pi_0}{2} \) the closing price of yesterday. In corn the foeling was steadier, and values ruled somewhat higher. Initial trades were at about the final quotations of yesterday. The market was easy,

The Christmas entertainment for the schelars of Old-Market Sunday school, which was given in the hall last night, was in every way a success. The large room in every way a success. The large room was filled with the scholars and their pass of sand friends. The superintendent, sents and friends. The superintendent, sents and friends are the constant friends. The hitle ones of the primary desartment went through some pretty exerages of singing and recitation, after which Mr. Polk Miller and his friends gave one of their ministable entertainments, which kept the authence entranced for more than the office of Mr. Fisher, the ticket agent.

The theft, while a very bold one, was easily committed. The thin panel to the door leading from the waiting-room into the ticket-office was knocked in, and an entrance effected with very little difficulty. The safe, it appears, was not securely locked, the combination having been fixed as is often been employed to assist in clerical work at the depot and in the office of Mr. Fisher, the ticket agent.

occurred on Wednesday night between the hours of 7 and 8 o'clock, and an account of the arrest of Mary and her father by Sergeants Hall and Tomlinson on Thursday afternoon was published in yesterday's Dispares. There was a specific charge for each offence, and the woman was sent to the grand jury of the Hustings Court. It was she who was caught by Officer Hall while attempting to pawn some of the goods at Stern's. No case was made out against Mason, but he was required to give security for his good behavior fer the next twelve months in the sum of $500, which he failed to do and went to jail.

P. M. O'Donnell was assessed $25 and sent on to the grand jury of the Hustings to time they gave the children people under their care last some friends in his private spartments whom he was antertaining and that when some friends in his private apartments whom he was entertaining, and that when they made their exit by the side door, which was more convenient than the front door, an officer standing near preferred the charge against him. The law provides that no bar-rooms shall be kept open on the Sabbath. The decision of the Justice was strictly in accordance with this.

William Coleman (colored) was sent to the Hustings Court for assaulting a young white man named William Webb with a stick. Webb was not seriously hurt.

John Brady and James Napier paid 85 and costs each for throwing rocks at the house of Grace Harris.

Messrs. F. A. Lamb and Joseph E. Davidson have just returned from Spartanburg. S. C., where they spent several dars with the family of Rev. W. T. Derieux, who was for several years pastor of the Bainbridge-Street Baptist church, in this city. They had a delightful visit and were most hospitably entertained by their former pastor and members of his congregation. Mr. Derieux was educated at Richmond College and his first charge was in this city, where he won great popularity and is held in affectionate esteem. He accepted a call to Spartanburg about eight years ago, and has done a fine work there. He is now regarded as one of the leading preachers in South Carolina. He has a large congregation and is greatly beloved by his people.

The Late Robert P. Richardson. It is not altogether a sad duty to speak

It is not altogether a sad duty to speak of a departed friend so pure as was Robert P. Richardson, deceased. The grandest laws of nature are simple, not complex. So of characters. There was nothing to search for in Mr. Richardson. He was above-board, straightforward, and expected others to be so. There was no thought of sharpness or "short cuts" to prosperity in business. He hated and denounced sham and cant. He did not believe in reformation in rich or poor without repentance and confession. He was a patriot as loyal to the old Union as George Washington and to the Confedence of t as George Washington and to the Confederacy as Robert Lee. He loved children, and this was the key to his interest in the orphan asylum. The writer, who has for forty years been a member of the Board of Managers, can say with truth that in all these years it has had among the living and the dead no more constant friend than he. Twenty years ago the writer, while all in bed, was visited as the writer, while all in bed, was visited as the writer, while all in bed, was visited as the local content of the same at the board. he. I wenty years ago the writer, while ill in bed, was visited in the early morn by Mr. Richardson, who exclaimed with boyish gies. "Parker, I know something that will make you well—Mr. Barrett has left you $20,000 for the orphans" (It turned out to be $56,000). Mr. Richardson himself some years ago gave the asylum $1,000, and was in the habit of giving small gifts to the boys. No man's form or face was signal for greater joy among the boys than his. Such a man is a benediction to any city, and his good Richardson was for many years an honor member of St. Paul's church.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

New York, December 30.—The stock market displayed considerable strength again to-day. At the opening of business Manhattan and Lackawanna advanced 116, to 152 and 15516 respectively, while the general list improved 1 to: GOLD FOR SHIPMENT.

The upward movement received a temporary check when it became known that $500,000 in rold had been engaged for shipment to Europe by the steamship La Normandie to-morrow, this naving served as an excuse for an advance of the rate for call loans from 6 to 10 per cent. Manhattan gave way 3½ and Lackawanns 2½ for cent, but the general list was not materially decreat, as it soon transpired that the gold shament was made on a special order, and that banks and trust companies were willing lens of money, the rate for which declined to 3ab pent. The extreme decline outside the stocks
